

2nd ENT class test

Write down short answers to following questions

In which plane haematoma auris develops?

What is treatment of haematoma auris?

What is the name of cartilage deficient area between tragus and root of helix?

What is the name of incision given in the above mentioned area to for ear operations?

Cartilage of the pinna is of which type?

What are the lengths and linings of the two parts of EAC?

Pinna develops from??

What is the special thing about development of tympanic membrane?

Which organism is involved in frunche?

Which antibiotic would you give in a patient of frunche?

What are most important signs of Otitis Externa?

What are the most common organisms involved in Otitis Externa?

What are three most important steps in treatment of Otitis Externa?

3

Write names most commonly involved fungal in Otomycolis?

What is treatment of otomycolis?

2

What is the name of deficiencies in outer part of External auditory canal

What is the clinical importance of the above said deficiencies?

What is the outer layer of tympanic membrane?

What is the middle layer of tympanic membrane?

What is underlying abnormality in Bat ear?

Name the structure leading to the development of EAC in embryo?

Name the organism involved in Atrophic Rhinitis?

As an baby

A 2-year-old child presents with EN and ODP with Complaint of sneezing and Rhinorrhea for 2 years and progressively increasing lateral Nasal obstruction. On anterior rhinoscopy there are multiple masses which are pale, soft and can be probed all around.

- A what is the most probable diagnosis? 1
- B what is the differential diagnosis? 2
- C which single most important investigation would you order? 1
- D what is the medical treatment in this case 2
- E which surgical procedures can be done in this case and what is most effective one of all these? 2

As an House officer on duty in ENT you are called from Gyne deptt. To attend a newly born baby girl who develops cyanosis on feeding which is relieved by crying.

- 1 what is most probable diagnosis? 1
- 2 What emergency measure you will take at that moment? 2
- 3 with which simple procedure you can diagnose this condition? 2
- 4 What is definitive treatment? correction of atresia by transpalatal approach. 2