

probing inguinal DDA eye

Nasolacrimal duct obstruction

scrimed
Carr eye
Prof. G. V. S. I.
Uchitil
be Cataract

5. One month old baby was brought to OPD with complaints of watering from right eye since birth. There is no history of any birth trauma:

- a) What is most likely diagnosis? Nasolacrimal Duct obstruction 2
- b) What is differential diagnosis of epiphora at this age? 2
- c) How will you manage this condition? Conjunctiva, Keratitis and Contact lens 2

6. Sixty years old female presents in the eye out door with gradual painless loss of vision in her left eye for the last 6 months. She noticed that her problem is aggravated in bright light. There is no other complaint.

- a) What is most likely diagnosis? Senile Cataract 1
- b) How will you confirm the diagnosis? 2
- c) How will you manage this case? 2

7. A contact lens user presented with severe pain and photophobia in her both eyes along with blurring of vision. On examination there are pseudodendritic on cornea.

- a) What is the most probable diagnosis? Acute bacterial Keratitis 1
- b) What is the differential diagnosis? Bacterial Conjunctivitis 2
- c) What is the best treatment choice for this patient? Antibiotic drops 2

Acute bacterial
Keratitis
Squint

8. A mother brought her 6 months old infant with complaints of misalignment of his eyes. On examination the right eye is deviated inwards.

- a) The most probable diagnosis at this age would be? Esotropia 1
- b) Describe the line of management of this condition. Surgery 4

9. Eight years old boy complains of severe itching in his both eyes, on examination there is conjunctival chemosis and flat topped papillae?

- a) What is the most probable diagnosis? Vernal Kerato Conjunctivitis 2
- b) What is the differential diagnosis? 2
- c) What is the treatment given to such patients? Allergic 2

Conjunctivitis

Avide call
Anti-e- Allergic kerat
" Atopic kerat
recurrent kerat

Allergic
Conjunctivitis

F/16-009

SUPERIOR UNIVERSITY

AZRA NAHEED MEDICAL COLLEGE
SEND UP EXAMINATION 2021 (SEQ Paper)
4th Year MBBS Ophthalmology

Maximum marks:

Time Allowed: 2 Hours

1. A 20 years female presented with a small nodule at her left upper eyelid margin with severe pain, watering & redness for last 3 days

- a) What is your diagnosis?
- b) What is pathogenesis of this condition?
- c) How will you manage this patient?

STYE
Hordeolum cataract
Scurvy - PAB
2

2. A 50 years old lady has come with severe pain and redness in right eye for last 4 days, associated with vomiting. On ocular examination, there is ciliary congestion, cornea is hazy and pupil mid-dilated, oval and non-reacting to light. She gives H/O episodes of halos around light and decreased vision.

- a) What is the most probable diagnosis
- b) Give differential diagnosis of red eye
- c) How will you manage this patient

PCAB
Glaucoma
Cyclocoma
1 PAB
2
2
H/O
13
Uveitis

3. A patient presented with severe pain and decreased vision in his left eye, after 3rd postoperative day of cataract surgery. On examination his vision is decreased, anterior chamber is full of grade 4 cells with hazy fundus view. The red reflex is absent and there is hypopyon in the anterior chamber.

- a) What could be the most probable diagnosis?
- b) Name the commonest pathogens responsible for this condition.
- c) How you will manage this patient?

Acute anterior uveitis
Endophthalmitis
Uveitis
Pne
S. aureus
3

4. A laborer has sustained chemical injury with splash of lime in his eyes, while whitewashing a room followed by intense pain, redness, blurring of vision and watering from his eyes. Alkali injury

- a) What is the immediate treatment option in this patient?
- b) How will you manage long term complications in this patient?

pool via
DM eye
glaucoma
Uveitis
Endoph
Steroid
with